EATING OUT

Coffee shops:

Unflavored coffee does not present a problem, including the various roasts, i.e. French roast, Spanish roast etc. Flavoring always needs a good Hashgacha. Some coffee shops such as Starbucks have the flavoring in a bottle, and one can check for kosher certification on the label. Those that use flavored beans would need a good Hashgacha on the roasting house. The addition of milk is not a problem beyond Cholov Stam in countries when one can rely on the milk being kosher. Half and Half needs Hashgacha when it contains preservatives. One should drink the coffee in a disposable cup as the mugs used may be used for non kosher hot coffee as well.

Cruise Ships and Hotels Resorts on occasion advertise Kosher meals with full supervision. In cases where the facility does not include a Kosher kitchen, the hotel is usually happy to provide ample airline-style meals for its guests. These can be heated in the non-Kosher ovens as they are double wrapped for this purpose. In addition, one can order gourmet meals from caterers who specialize in mail order Glatt Kosher meals. These too are double wrapped and sealed to allow heating in a non-Kosher oven. Most of these establishments are most agreeable to provide cup of fruits upon request as well.

Restaurants and Caterers: One of the difficult decisions that one must make when choosing a Kosher Restaurant or Caterer is how to determine the Kosher standard and what separates one from the next. One of the main determining factors as to the reliability of an establishment will be the level of Hashgacha provided. There are various types of food establishments and each may need different levels of supervision.

Meat restaurants or catering: In general needs Shomer Shabbos person on site at all times. This will exclude those restaurants that are owned and operated by their non Shomer Shabbos owners and have occasional visits from the Rabbi.

Fish restaurants or catering: The same as with meat applies.

Vegetarian restaurants: The severe issue of insects is prevalent as well as non kosher wine and grape juice being used among the ingredients.

Dairy or pizza restaurants: These often do not require Hashgacha Temidis. However, as will all of the above, each case may vary as to how much it must be watched.

Yogurt shops: A common ploy is for the non Jewish or non Shomer Shabbos owner to put signs in front of the machines bearing a Hechscher, claiming to be using a mix from that reliable Hechscher. Obviously this is meaningless, as we cannot rely on such claims.

Ice cream stores: There are franchise stores that must use the company's product and one can assume that they are doing so as the penalty would be great if they vary. Than there are other types that are independent that are allowed to use many ingredients of their own choosing, and will need supervision on each and every store.

Maaris Ayin: Taking a kosher burger into a McDonalds to meet a non Jew who will be eating non kosher would be a classic case of Maaris Ayin. A normal person would have the right to assume that he sees the Jew eating a burger in a non kosher burger restaurant. However drinking water there, or eating something kosher in a hotel continental breakfast would be a problem.

Amusement Parks, Movie Theaters, Sport Stadiums: dry roasted peanuts in the shell do not pose a problem. However, fresh popcorn cannot be used in any of the above locations. Even when the vendor displays a kosher oil being used at this time, we have no way of ascertaining that non-Kosher oil was not used until now. If butter is being used it too may be of a non Kosher origin. The beer and soda are often Kosher.

Take Out: Often this may resolve a situation where one needs to eat in a place that does not have Kosher food on hand. Whether in Alaska or Hawaii, cruise ship or plane, non-Kosher home or hotel, one can always have a gourmet meal on hand with proper preparation. Many reliable kosher food outlets gladly ship food to anywhere in the world, be it a hotel, cruise line or other. Following are some of the reliable ones: In general, when eating out, one needs to determine with each establishment "does it make sense". We have had many scandals recently in places that could have been looked at better and were not..

LOS ANGELES

COFFEE SHOPS: Coffee Bean stores, are under the supervision of KOLA (Rabbi Benzaquen): Note: everthing is under certification in all of the stores other than in Hawaii and in San Francisco, where only the drinks are kosher certified.
Starbucks: Some products are kosher. All plain coffee without flavoring is kosher. www.kosherstarbucks.com has a comprehensive listing.

All food items and beverages are included in this supervision. In San Francisco only the drinks are Kosher certified. In Las Vegas all Coffee Bean stores are certified Kosher, including all food items and beverages. The Coffee Bean stores in Arizona that are supervised Kosher by KOLA (including food items) are those in Phoenix and Scottsdale.

3 flavors: Mango Madness and and NOT Kosher.

Some Jello Strawberry

an unauthorized O/Ud. The product is being withdrawn from the market.

Woeber's Mayo Gourmet – Roasted Chipotle Mayonnaise contains dairy ingredients as listed on the ingredient panel but the dairy designation has been inadvertently omitted. Packaging has been revised. The dairy content is insignificant and therefore is botul (nullified). America's Choice Hot Cocoa (26 Oz. Hot Cocoa) has a limited amount of canisters that inadvertently contain non-Kosher marshmallows. Affected product is limited to those products bearing the date code "Best if used by 05/04/11 MCA". Product with the code RCA is correctly labeled. The O/U has terminated its certification of Shanghai Kerry Oils & Grains. Any oils made by Shanghai Kerry Oils & Grains are to be deemed NON-KOSHER even when bearing the O/U.

Please be aware that Woolworths Calamari, Prawns and possibly other seafoods have erroneously been labeled with a Beth Din Kosher logo. These products are not Kosher and Woolworths have removed them from their stores.

From the cRc

It has come to our attention that certain frozen yogurt stores under the "Yoz" name are selling products claiming to be certified by the cRc. The cRc does not certify this frozen yogurt mix that they are selling and do not certify any of their stores. Additionally the Yoz website lists their frozen yogurt as being certified by the cRc. This is also not true.

From Blue Ribbon Kosher

Kashrus Administrator - Rabbi Baruch Meir Cleinascadian Farms Sherbet - Cascadian Farms Organic Sherbet, all 4 flavors: Harvest Berry, Orange, Rainbow and Wild Strawberry, under Blue Ribbon Kosher Supervision and bearing the Blue Ribbon Kosher symbol, contain dairy ingredients as listed on the ingredient panel but the "D Stam" designation has been inadvertently omitted. Badatz agency does not certify these candies.

New Zealand Bans Kosher Slaughter

New Zealand has banned Shechita in their country.

The country's new animal welfare code, which recently took effect mandates that all animals for commercial consumption be stunned prior to slaughter to ensure that they are treated "humanely and in accordance with good practice and scientific knowledge"

This regulation has shocked the Jewish community.

"This decision by the New Zealand government, one which has a Jewish prime minister, is outrageous," said Rabbi Moshe Gutnick, acting president of the Organization of Rabbis of Australasia. "We will be doing everything possible to get this decision reversed".

"I am sure there will be objections made that this action is an infringement of the right of Jews to observe their religion" said David Zwartz, chairman of the Wellington Jewish Council.

Agriculture Minister David Carter rejected a recommendation that Shechita be exempt from the new code.

The National Animal Welfare Advisory Committee did recommend a dispensation for Kosher slaughter in 2001, but the new code does not allow any exemptions.

Among other countries that have banned Shechita are Iceland, Norway and Sweden.
